VICTIMS OF FIRE IN THE GRAVE

Pathetic Scenes as Mass Is Sung Over Charred Remains of Collingwood Pupils.

22 BODIES UNIDENTIFIED

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—Today solemn high mass was celebrated in the Catholic churches of Collingwood for the souls of those congregations who lost their lives in the school fire.

At St. Mary's Church the caskets of thirteen children lay in a long row before the altar rail. The first four rows of seats had been removed to make room for the dead.

The boys wore the bodies, in their white cassocks, as they arrived, very solemnly. Brothers, sisters, grandmothers stood there in silence, while the priest read the names of the dead. Each congregation moved forward again. The coffin was carried on the altar by the child pallbearers to join the other dead in the long rows at the front.

Crowded Church in Tears.
At last this death of dead was all complete, and the service was begun. Most of the people of this parish are foreign.

The mass work in the slugs and slugs. They sat—some rows of strong men, a flapping rain with shoulders bowed, while tears ran down their cheeks. A greater agony of grief was in the eyes of the women at the altar.

The service went on. The voices of the priest were the chief of the mass. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit.

Forty Dead in One Church.
Twenty children of Collingwood Presbyterian Sunday School were also buried today. For each a separate funeral was held. Eleven from this school were buried today. Forty from this school lost their lives.

From nearly thirty other funerals were held in the city. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit.

167 Official Count of Victims.
One hundred and thirty-seven is the official count of the victims of the Collingwood fire. This was announced today by Deputy Coroner McCall.

Of these twenty-two remain unidentified and five are estimated to have been buried to school. The remaining four were identified by the school authorities.

The last survivor of the fire victims today was buried in the city. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit.

Teacher's Body Missing.
The body was first identified as that of Miss Weller by Dr. Hill, a dentist who thought he recognized it. He had seen her in the school. Upon further examination the body was identified as that of the teacher. The body was buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit.

Four Puppies for Memorial.
The last of the four puppies was buried today. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit. The children of the school were buried in the ground. From now white candles in the church were lit.

GRAND JURY'S RETURNS SHOW WAVE OF CRIME

The crime wave which has been sweeping Boston and vicinity for weeks is reflected in the report of the Suffolk County Grand Jury, made today. The twenty-nine indictments for the first time in the history of the county show a wave of crime.

Among the persons indicted is Dr. George A. Brownell, a Rock Bay man, who is charged with the murder of his wife. The grand jury also indicted a man for the murder of a woman.

"THE TEACHER"—FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH

Among the pitiful dead of the Collingwood school horror in which nearly two hundred lives of innocent children were flashed out in flame lie the bodies of two teachers who were sacrificed in helpless, vain efforts to save the boys and girls committed to their care. Moving about the stricken town, huddled and listless in helplessness, were the bodies of the teachers, their minds tormented with the memory of their heart-breaking experience, are never other teachers who gave all of their strength, mental and physical, to rescue the youthful lives for help that rang in their ears. All honor to the heroic dead—all praise for the brave teachers who still live, left who would just as willingly have died had it availed in saving the little ones who perished!

LABOR NEWS

The shops in Readville were closed down for about an hour and a half yesterday afternoon and the men called together to discuss the remarks of a number of the officials of the road on the matter of the proposed piece work rates, which will go into operation next Tuesday unless the men draw before the company are withdrawn before that time.

Twelve the efforts of the officials to draw the men into expressions regarding these rates and what they thought would be the result of enforcing them, the men maintained a stolid silence, and were partly due to the fact that it would be contrary to the policy of the union to make any statement regarding the proposed rates.

The union committee of Engineers No. 10 reported at the regular meeting last night that efforts had been made to draw the individual members to sign the new piece work rates for the week of March 10 to 16, but were unsuccessful in getting the signers.

The Southern Brotherhood of Railway and Mechanical Engineers of the State, Lowell, the report showed that the Boston Brotherhood Association no longer represents the members of the State. The association has been given up and the members will be communicated with one more. After that short notice the association will hold a special session and take such action as may be deemed wise.

RECEIVED SIGN WAGE SCALE.
The annual convention of Engineers No. 10 reported at the regular meeting last night that efforts had been made to draw the individual members to sign the new piece work rates for the week of March 10 to 16, but were unsuccessful in getting the signers.

LEAGUERS MAKE GOOD SHOWING FOR SELECTMEN

Indorsed by Democrats at North Attleboro; Republicans in Tangle.

PLAN TO RUN ON PAPERS

Special to the Boston American.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, March 7.—John Devlin and Henry T. Caldwell, two of the three Independent League candidates for selectmen at the coming town meeting, are also indorsed by the Democrats.

At the Democratic caucus in Tupper street on Monday last night Devlin and Caldwell were two out of the three candidates nominated.

The Republican caucus in Memorial Hall resulted in a similar tie, which necessitates all candidates taking out nomination papers.

When the ballot was delivered at the meeting last night, it was as follows:

W. H. Bull, Rep. 205
Louis Freeman, Rep. 201
Arthur J. McCarthy, Rep. 188
John A. Shaw, Rep. 184
Henry T. Caldwell, I. L. 181
John Devlin, I. L. 80
Christopher Devlin, I. L. 30

This made one tie, that between McCarthy and Shaw. The tie was that, in case of a tie, another ballot can be taken if a selection is made. If objection is made, the meeting must be adjourned to the subsequent day.

Objection was made to another ballot and the meeting adjourned to the subsequent day. The meeting was held on Tuesday night, and the results were as follows:
